Bomber In Crash In Texas

Most of Crew Members Bail Out But Two Are Known as Dead

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22—(P)—A giant B-36 bomber crashed in a field 25 miles south of here today after most of its crew members bailed out. At least two men were killed.

The wreckage caught fire, detonating ammunition in the huge craft, the world's largest land-based bomber. Firemen from Carswell Air Force base here, home base of the plane, fought the fire and warned spectators to stand clear.

Capt. Robert Anderson, Carswell information chief, said ten men had been seen to parachute from the stricken plane and that four men were injured. This plus the dead, accounted for all 16 men aboard, he said.

The injured, taken to Johnson county hospital at nearby Cleburne, had injuries indicating they had bailed out. One had a broken leg, one an injured back, and two sprained ankles.

Jack Proctor, Cleburne newsman, said one of the two killed was reported to have come in contact with a whirling propeller after his chute failed to open.

Enveloped in Flames

The wreckage continued to burn fiercely for hours after the crash.

W. O. Doggett, who farms three miles south of the crash on the Les Armstrong farm, said he was standing by his pickup truck when he saw the six-engined giant go down.

"I saw objects falling from the plane," he said, "but I thought they were practice bombs." He said he learned later from a surviving crew member that two men were killed in bailing out. Doggett said the plane was flying low with only one engine operating, and headed for Carswell.

The six-engined craft fell about 4½ hours after taking off from Carswell Air Force base here, home of the Eighth Air Force.

The plane crashed about seven miles west of the small town of Godley. A. T. Vandiver, who lives near there, said two men killed in the crash were taken to the nearby Jim Bandy farm.

The Dillon funeral home at Cleburne reported two injured airmen were enroute to Cleburne, Tex., in ambulances.

Mrs. O. B. Hadley, near whose farm the sky giant came down, said the engines were making a "loud noise" as the plane neared the ground. She said there was no fire.

Capt. Robert S. Anderson of the public information division of Eighth Air Force headquarters here said he had only fragmentary information.

"An American air lines pilot says ten men bailed out," the captain said. "Ordinarily a B-36 carries a crew of 15."

Anderson said the crash site was just west of Joshua, a small town north of Cleburne.

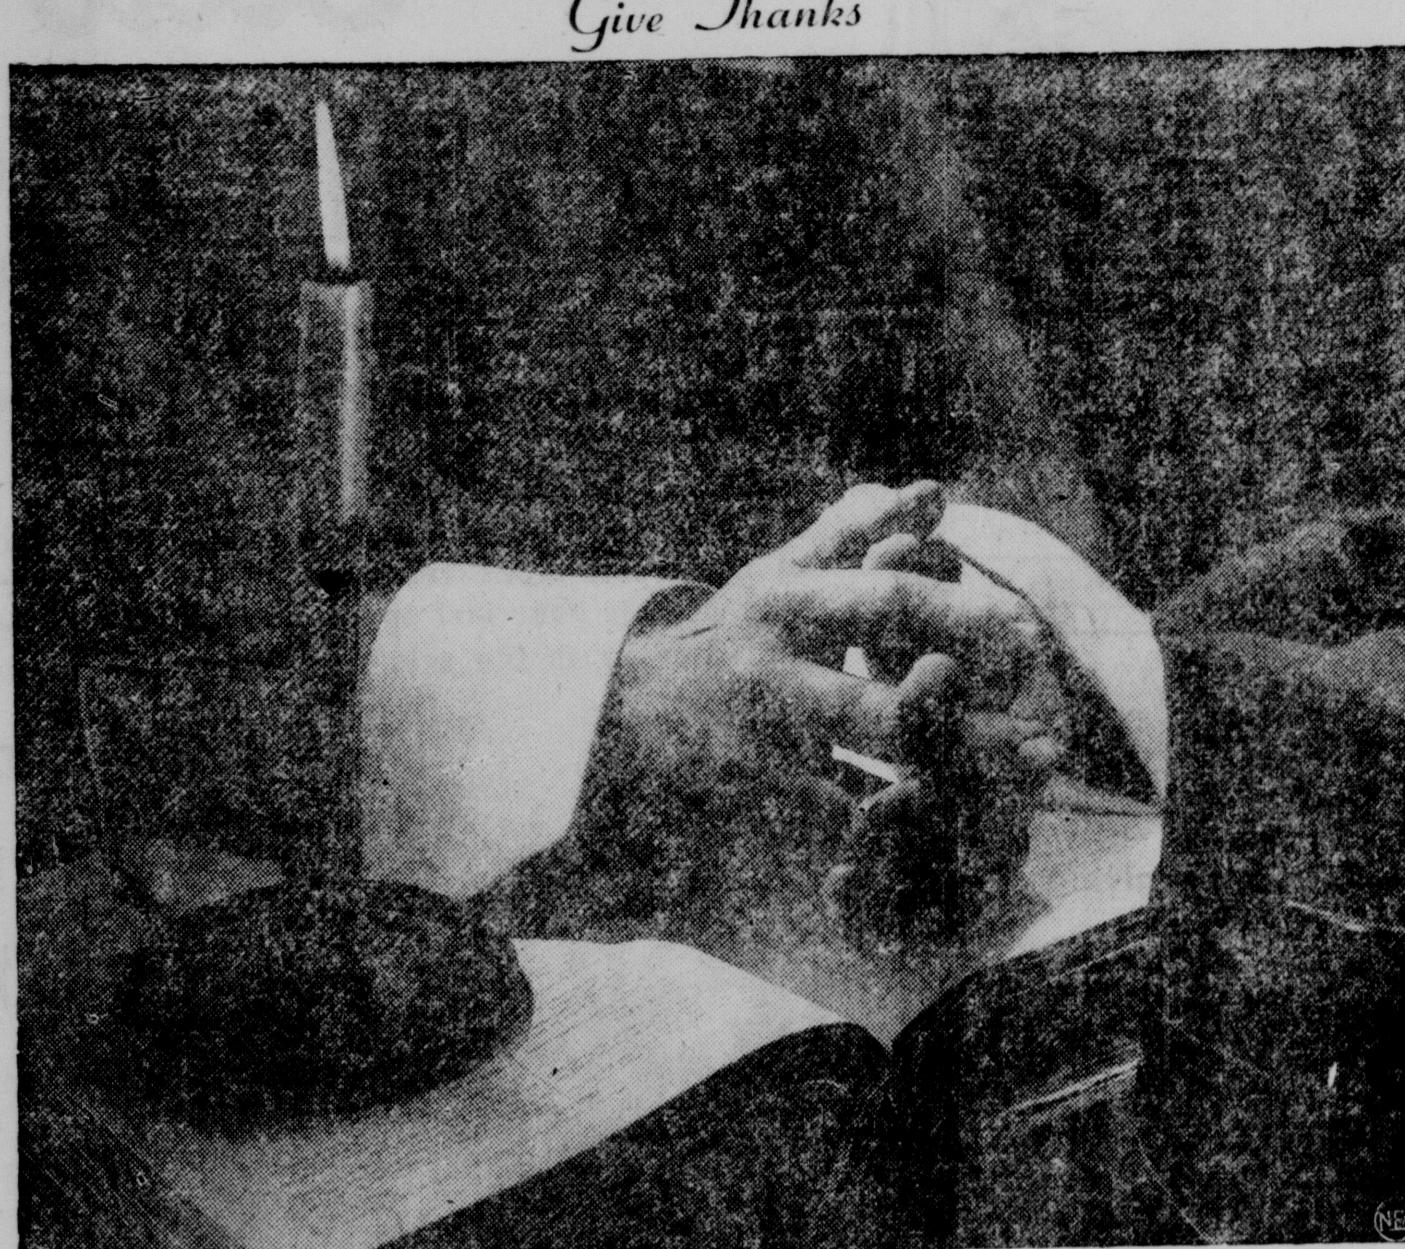

Crash crews and ambulances were enroute to the scene from Carswell Air Force base here, headquarters of the Eighth Air Force.

Only twice before has one of the far-ranging giants crashed. Last Feb. 14 one crashed along the British Columbia coast. Seventeen airmen parachuted and twelve later were rescued from coastal islands. On Sept. 16, 1949, five airmen were killed when a B-36 failed to complete a take-off from Carswell and roared into a nearby lake at 100 miles an hour.

Would Provide Food in Relief

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(P)—

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Oklahoma) said today he hopes to get Senate action during the lame-duck session beginning next Monday on a bill aimed at making it easier to give away a quarter billion dollars worth of surplus foods.

Thomas, chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, who lost out in the primary, favors giving part of the surplus to relief agencies this year after Congress authorized free disposal of surplus dried eggs, milk and other foods for relief purposes.

Radio Station KDRO Strike is Ended Today

Agreement Was Reached in Meeting Tuesday Night

The six-month-old strike at the local radio station KDRO, 2100 West Broadway, has ended according to information received from William F. Brown, attorney for the management. Representatives of the Sedalia Federation of Labor and the Federated Shop Crafts met Tuesday night with Milton J. Hinlein, owner and operator of the station and negotiated a contract for members of I.B.E.W. (International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers) local No. 1259.

The exact terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

The new contract became operative at 6 a.m. Wednesday.

The following statement was issued by R. C. McVey Jr., president of the Sedalia Federation of Labor, W. J. Donath, president of Federated Shop Crafts and Milton J. Hinlein, subsequent to the contract settlement:

"We sincerely regret the inconvenience placed upon the city of Sedalia and the surrounding trade areas caused by the engineering strike at KDRO which is now happily settled. In labor and management disputes, differences sometimes arise that make settlement a difficult and lengthy process. We thank everyone concerned for bearing with us so patiently."

The strike started at 12 o'clock noon May 12. The station went off the air at that time and remained off for two days, then resumed with non-union help.

Today the regular employees, Robert Jones, chief engineer and James Cornwall, resumed operation of KDRO. Another of the regular employees, Robert Smith, has since entered the armed services. His place will be taken by a new employee shortly.

The pending legislation, he said, would give Secretary of Agriculture Brannan authority to pay for re-processing food bought under government price support programs and transporting it to relief agencies this year after Congress authorized free disposal of surplus dried eggs, milk and other foods for relief purposes.

Vice President Barkley to Hospital for Checkup

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(P)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley today entered the naval medical center at Bethesda, Md., for a physical checkup.

The prime minister of Southern Rhodesia also will be present.

Attlee described it as "a meeting between us to discuss questions of common concern, including aspects of the present international situation."

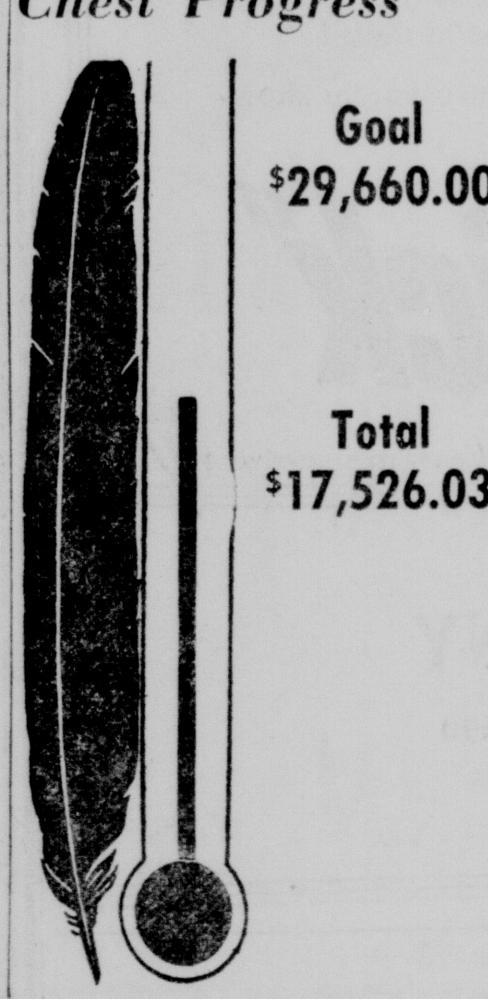

The talks will last about ten days and will be private, Attlee said, "to enable a confidential exchange of views to take place."

Speaking for the Conservative party, opposition leader Winston Churchill told the House:

"We think that such a gathering would be opportune and that the discussions which will take place may be fruitful."

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22—(P)—The U. S. weather bureau today issued a special cold wave warning for Missouri.

It said the cold wave, accompanied by snow flurries, would strike tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. Temperatures will fall to a Friday morning low of 10 to 15 in northwest Missouri to 20 degrees in the southeast. The low in St. Louis Friday morning is expected to be between 15 and 20 degrees.

The weather bureau said special warnings are issued when there is an anticipated 20 degree drop to 15 degrees or below between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15.

Inspection At Army Air Field

Officials Land There Today In A Big Bomber

A group of Army Air Force officials, traveling in a large army bomber, landed at the Sedalia Army Air Field, 19 miles west of Sedalia, near Knob Noster, at 10:20 o'clock this morning, to make an official inspection of the base and the surroundings. The bomber was preceded by a pilot plane from Scott Field, Ill.

In the party were: General Carl Spaatz, Lieut. General H. E. Harmon, his aide, Capt. J. E. Womack, Brig. Gen. Harold L. Clark, Dr. Bruce Hopper, of Harvard University, educational adviser, and Lt. Col. Arthur E. Bordeau, secretary.

From Warrensburg they came to Sedalia and lunched at the Old Missouri Homestead, then visited numerous sections of Sedalia, particularly the new housing areas, parks, etc.

No inspection was made of the base because the group has all the data from the Army Air Force.

New Threats in Floods in West

By The Associated Press

Two north central California areas today faced new threats from avalanches of muddy, debris-filled flood waters that had begun a general recession elsewhere in California and Nevada.

The floods have caused at least nine deaths and more than $20,000 damage in three days.

Army engineers warned residents along the Sacramento river between Sacramento, Calif., and its mouth to watch for possible levee breaks as the crest of the combined Sacramento and American rivers surges down stream.

The Sacramento river flow reached 100,000 second feet, greatest volume since 1907. Second feet is a flow of one cubic foot per second.

The second danger area was near Modesto, where runoff waters from the Don Pedro dam are expected to invade lowlands and residential areas today. The dam filled yesterday and 26,000 cubic feet of water a second are still flowing into it.

General relief seemed to be at hand, however.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco reported "The excessive rainstorm . . . is ended." The bureau predicted generally fair weather over northern and central California today.

Reno faced a tremendous cleanup job.

The missing plane was bound from Chico, Calif., to Billings, Mont. Owned by the New Tribes Mission, a religious organization, it was on the first leg of a flight with 21 persons aboard.

The four mountaineers carried radio and light signaling equipment but it was expected to take them six to eight hours to reach the scene of last night's fire.

A resort owner said he saw a burning fuselage in the flames far above timberline on the precipitous east face of the mountain. When the fire subsided, he could see nothing resembling a campfire.

Passengers included two young mothers with their children, widowed in the crash of another mission-owned plane in Venezuela last June which killed 15. Also aboard was Dr. Paul W. Flemings of Chico, mission director.

Beaver Causes A Delay To Train

MARTHASVILLE, Mo., Nov. 22—(P)—A beaver held up an M. K. & T. freight train near McKittrick, Mo., recently. Editor E. C. Kehr told the story in his paper, the Marthasville Record.

He said a Katy freight train had to stop 20 minutes because a tree was across the tracks. In falling it had broken telegraph wires, too.

Investigation showed a beaver had gnawed the tree down.

Social Security Reaches to Maids

"Do you have a maid?"

Not so very many households these days can answer yes, but those who do have a maid or any other household worker will need a copy of a brief booklet bearing that question as a title. Scott Webber, manager of the Sedalia Social Security office, began distributing this booklet today. This colorful leaflet sets out, in a few sentences, just how the lady of the house, or any employer of domestic help in or around the home, may tell whether or not the worker is brought under the new Social Security law which becomes effective on January 1.

The work of those regularly employed in private homes will be credited to social security and the employer will be responsible for reporting wages, along with social security taxes, to the collector of internal revenue.

The title of the pamphlet does not stop with "Do You Have A Maid?" but continues—"or a laundress? — a cook? —chauffeur? —gardener?" Any of these, or any other persons employed regularly for work in or around a private household may come under the new law, and Mr. Webber urges their employers to request a free copy of the booklet.

A simple test in the booklet, in terms of amount of wages paid and regularity of employment, will tell whether a maid or a cook or laundress will get the protection of social security — and whether the housewife should start making reports next year. If so, there's a postage-paid postal card in the government-issued booklet which the housewife should mail in for instructions.

Burglary at the Welcome Inn

Groceries, bottle goods and food stuffs in the place were not included in the loot.

In receiving their awards Mrs. Warren and Mr. Naugel expressed their pleasure in working with the Chamber, and their pledges of continued support to its activities.

New Officers Introduced

The toastmaster and retiring president of the Chamber, J. Harold Seaburg, introduced the club's new officers and board of directors. He then turned the meeting over to the new president, A. W. Haller, who introduced Dr. Weaver.

The text of Dr. Weaver's speech was entitled "The Tragedy of Success." He pointed out that the success of this nation is hinged upon two guiding principles—an observance of natural law, and the idea that all peoples are persons of dignity, quality and worth.

Natural law Dr. Weaver explained is a principle that has come down to us from the time of the Roman empire and has continued to grow, reaching its height in the civilization of the United States. This law embodies a sense of man's judgment of right and wrong tempered by the knowledge that a supreme being judges of man's application, as a referee.

The principle of the worth and dignity of each man comes to us from the teachings of Christ. This too has reached its fullest application in our nation—the

Ladislas Segy's Antics' Are

By Richard Kleiner
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA) Ladislas Segy doesn't have a farm, but if he did he wouldn't have to worry about bad crops. He has a bunch of little carved statuettes which are guaranteed to produce good crops. Guaranteed, that is, by some African medicine men who have long since died.

CUP from which to drink the victim's spirit tops this head.

He pointed to a four-inch ivory figure, a roughly-hewn human being. That was a "fetish-of-the-twin," he explained. It seems the African natives believed twins were born with only one soul per set. If one twin died, the survivor was left with only half a PUDGY wrinkles adorned masks for women's secret rites.

Segy just opened a gallery in New York to display his sculptures, a weird assortment of wooden, ivory and bronze figures and plaques. Most of them were created in the belief they had some magical powers, like producing a bountiful harvest.

"These are white magic figures," says Segy, a Hungarian-born artist and critic who spent many years in Paris and now talks with a curious Franco-Hungarian accent. "Black magic brings bad things, but white magic is for benefit of somebody."

HALF a soul went with this "fetish-of-the-twin" figure.

soul, which is below par even in Africa.

So the medicine man would prescribe that the poor guy get himself a little ivory figure. If he carried that in a bag around his neck the rest of his life, it would be OK. He'd have a genuine full-sized soul.

If you're interested in acquiring half a soul, Segy is the man to see. He has some nifty half-souls from the Basonge and Wanga tribes.

Since there are between 250 and 300 distinct tribes in Africa, and since each tribe had its own style of carving, it takes an expert to distinguish one from the other. Segy has spent many years studying African art, and can tell an Ibo ancestor cult mask from a Mushi ancestor cult mask quicker than you can say safari.

The Africans aren't producing these sculptures any more. When missionary doctors supplanted medicine men, they caused the natives to doubt the healing values of a hunk of carved wood.

All Segy's items are therefore antiques—he pronounces it "antics"—and consequently rather valuable. There's one 15th Century bronze plaque of a warrior that once adorned a King's palace in the Benin kingdom, now in British Nigeria, that is worth around $3000.

But their abe is only one reason for their popularity. They are called real works of art, and some of them are truly handsome. Much of the carving is dainty and precise, which is amazing when you learn that the native "carpenters," as they were called, used only a heavy, homemade adze.

Some of the sculptures reveal a pretty neat sense of humor, too. The sculptors turned out masks for women, who wore them at certain secret society ceremonies. One such in Segy's collection is equipped with an unmistakable triple chin.

Africa's wooden cups are often in the shape of a human head, immediately got all upset. Nothing would do but I take that statue away. She said it reminded her of the pain she felt when she had her baby.

"She didn't know, of course, that it was a maternity statue."

Hal Boyle Reports from Korea

By Hal Boyle

WITH U.S. NAVAL FORCES IN THE FAR EAST—(P)—There is a road leading from home to war—and a road leading back from war to home again.

It is the same road, and if you are a real combat man there are regrets along the way no matter which direction you are traveling. That is an odd truth about real men at war.

Coming over to the Korean war, the chief regret of Naval Lt. Charles J. Deasy of Cincinnati, was that he had to leave his bride of three months—Louise.

Now Deasy, at 26, one of the most experienced jet pilots in the Navy, is going home after flying more than 50 combat missions here in his second war. But happy as he is to rejoin his bride he has a big secret too.

"It's fine to be going home," he said thoughtfully, "but I'd like to get a Russian jet MIG-15 before I leave. My interest in the war revived as soon as we began to meet some air opposition."

Deasy became a Navy aviation pilot at the age of 18. Eight years later he is a veteran of two wars.

As a pioneer Navy test pilot in the cold, peace that followed the last war, Deasy helped check the capability of some seven of the 15 jet type aircraft developed by the United States.

He also has twice participated in the first historic battles of Russian jet against American jet in the Korean skies near the Manchurian border. His views are shared by most fliers I have talked to who have taken part in these flights.

Deasy feels that the swept-back wing Russian-built MIG-15 is better from a performance level in almost every way than any American jet used in the Korean theater—the Army F80s and the Navy F9Fs.

"It can climb faster, has a faster level speed, and can turn quicker," he said frankly. "It has about twice the all-around performance of anything we have out there."

Technicians compare the Russian MIG-15 with the American F-86 Sabre, holder of the official world speed record. The American Air Force has squadrons of Sabre planes in Germany and the United States but none in Korea.

Then why have the slower American jet planes managed to shoot down—without loss to themselves—the fastest known planes in the Russian army?

"They just can't teach those boneheads to fly," said Deasy. "Some people you can teach to drive a car—some you can't. It's the same way with planes."

The lieutenant acknowledged he didn't know by whom the MIG-15s—in the 700-mile-an-hour class—were being flown.

"We have to fight on the defensive and hope to get a chance on them," he said. "But we fight as a team—and they don't know teamwork. They come at us individually—or as groups of individuals without protecting each other."

"But if they knew how to fly

Well-Dressed Marine

What the well-dressed Marine will wear on the North Korean battlefield is demonstrated here by Pfc. John E. McLaughlin of Cleveland, O., and an unidentified buddy. them they could have a holiday every day with our F80s and our F9Fs."

Both of Deasy's brushes with enemy jets were near Sinuiju on this side of the Manchurian border.

"We saw them taking off at Antung across the river in what should be neutral territory," said Deasy. "They came in on us and started tangling. But they came in three or four at a time, flying as individuals without properly protecting each other."

The Americans did fight their slower jets as a team—as they had been taught.

"We didn't lose any," said Deasy, "and we figure they lost two planes and maybe three. The Red fliers not only lacked teamwork—their gunnery was terrible."

The big regret of Deasy—and

More Costly For Roads

Need $13,500,000 Added Funds For The Coming Year

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 22—(P)—It will cost more than ever before—$13,500,000—to keep Missouri's 18,789 miles of state highways in shape next year.

C. W. Brown, chief engineer for the State Highway Department, reported the figures today. It means about a third of the department's expected state revenue will be budgeted for maintenance.

The amount was based on estimates of Rex M. Whitten, maintenance engineer. They painted a gloomy picture of aging highways fading fast under the pressure of increased traffic.

This year, 535.9 miles of new road have been added to the state system. At the same time, 385.8 miles have slipped into the "distressed" class, needing immediate special repairs.

Such emergency work is costly. It averages $2,000 a mile and can reach $7,000—like the stretch of U.S. 40 east of Columbia that had to be kept usable until new pavement could be laid.

Brown compared the situation to the spot American troops were in when the Korean war broke out. So far the highway department is fighting a defensive action, he said.

"If, instead, we had the money to get into an offensive, we could really do something about this highway deterioration . . ."

Of the $13,500,000 set aside for maintenance next year, $11,993,059 goes for routine maintenance and gravel replacement. That work will take $108,059 more than the entire maintenance budget this year, $11,855,000.

Other big items are $600,000 for snow removal, $350,000 for bridge maintenance, $274,941 for emergencies, $100,000 for signs and markers, $350,000 for bridge maintenance, $100,000 for maintenance administration.

Gov. Forrest Smith has indicated he will try again to get more money for the highways. His first effort failed when the voters rejected last spring a plan to double the present two-cent gasoline tax and use one cent for rural roads.

Stocks Reach A High Level

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—(P)—Heavy buying drove the stock market to the highest average level in 20 years today.

Leading issues thrust ahead for gains of as much as $2 or so a share. The market closed at the top marks of the day.

Oil, steel, automobile and copper shares were among the favorites. Only radio-television stocks refused to go along with the main trend.

Today's advance was the latest step in a bull market that started in June last year.

Among favorite issues were Standard Oil (N.J.), Lion Oil, General Motors, Chrysler, Phelps Dodge Copper, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Jones & Laughlin. Sales volume totaled around 2,700,000 shares.

General Advance is By UN Troops in Northeast Korea

Here's the way the front looks from east to west:

East Coast—Eight inch guns of the U.S. cruiser St. Paul paved the way for the Republic of Korea (ROK) Capital Division pursuing "retreating disorganized enemy" toward Siberia.

Reds Prepare Stand

South Koreans were eight miles south of Chongjin, port city 35 miles from the Soviet border where the Reds apparently were preparing to make a stand. B-29s bombed Chongjin after Marine airmen ran into heavy anti-aircraft fire there.

Manchurian Border—The Seventh Division's 17th regimental combat team dug in around Hyesanjin. It reported no sign of enemy activity on either side of the 100-yard wide Yalu river which divides Korea from Red China's Manchuria.

Other Seventh Division elements, 15 miles to the south, struggled with faulty maps and bad roads in an effort to find and wipe out two Communist battalions. The Reds were in Samsu, 10 miles southwest of Hyesanjin.

One road that maps said went to Samsu ended abruptly seven miles up in the mountains from Kyohang. The Americans tried another. This was broken by a burning bridge and a landslide.

"We will keep pushing until we have the area cleaned out," a headquarter spokesman said.

Central Mountains—First Division Marines, seeking to envelop Changjin reservoir, ran into heavy small arms fire near Sinhung, seven miles up the east side of the reservoir. Red concentrations were reported nearby.

Northwest Front—The ROK Eighth Division occupied Yongwon, and with other divisions of the ROK Second Corps established a line running five to six miles north of Tokchon. Chinese Communists were building a series of strong defenses six to eleven miles north, just as they were on the rest of the northwest front manned by the U.S. First Corps.

First Corps patrols probed in spots as far as six miles without encountering the Chinese. But at either end they ran into trouble.

U.S. First Cavalry patrols on the right found Reds dug in on high ground five miles north of Kyohang.

Pallbearers were: John Barber, John Harris, Herman Netsch, Lloyd Eldred, H. O. Ebert and Robert Call.

Will Consult on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson said today he expects to consult with Republican leaders of Congress, including Senator Taft of Ohio, on foreign policy. He said he had done so in the past and would continue this course.

He told a news conference at the same time that some extraordinary interpretations had been placed on his speech Friday night assailing a Taft proposal to re-examine basic U.S. foreign policies toward Europe. He said that some critics had read into this an opposition on his part to any congressional inquiry and he declared this was not true.

Acheson was told that his Friday speech, attacking "re-examinists" had been widely interpreted as a blast at Senator Taft, whom Acheson had not named in the talk.

Last reported by radio over Idaho Falls, Idaho, at 3:48 p.m. M. S. T. That was 50 miles west of here. The plane was due at Billings at 6:30 p.m.

It was about that time that residents of this picturesque area 25 miles south of Yellowstone park heard a plane overhead. It was flying west, just opposite the direction the California plane should have been headed. There was speculation it was lost and hunting landmarks.

Half an hour later, acting Teton Park Superintendent Paul A. Judge said a fire was reported about 1,000 feet from the top of Mount Moran.

"There were no mountain climbers out," Judge said. "We assumed it could be nothing but a plane wreck."

Clarence Harris, an owner of Signal Mountain Lodge, eight miles across Jackson Lake from the mountain, took out a pair of powerful field glasses.

Find R. M. Neal Shot to Death

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 22.—(P)—Robert M. Neal, professor of journalism at the University of Missouri, was shot to death at his home here late Tuesday.

Temple Morett, acting coroner, said the wound apparently was self-inflicted. There will be no inquest, Morett said.

Neal, who was 49, had been ill health, and had recently resigned his position at the University, expecting to leave his post next July 1.

He was the author of several books on newspaper work, and had recently published a volume of railroad lore, "High Green and the Bark Peeler," which had been so well-received that the publishers asked him to write two companion volumes.

A graduate of Amherst and the University of Wisconsin, Neal formerly taught journalism at the University of Wisconsin and was news editor of the Wisconsin State Journal at Madison, Wis., before joining the Missouri faculty in 1947.

His widow and five children survive.

Thanksgiving Day Services

Church services will be at 10:30 Thursday morning at First Church of Christ, Science, Sixth street, and Lamine avenue. The public is cordially invited to attend.

"THANKSGIVING" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ. Scientist, on Sunday, November 23, 1950.

Golden Text: Ps. 107:21,22.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies." (Ps. 103:2-4) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech. If we are ungrateful for Life, Truth, and Love, and yet return thanks to God for all blessings, we are insincere and incur the sharp censure of our Master pronounces on hypocrites. In such a case, the only acceptable prayer is to put the finger on the lips and remember our blessings." (p. 3)

Jayhawk-Tigers Battle at M.U. Homecoming

Climaxing Attractive Program Expected to Pull 35,000 Fans

Offensive Lineups

KANSAS — Lyn Smith le, Bob Talkington lt, Geo. Mr. Konic lg, Wint Winter c, Dolph Simon rg, Mike McCormack rt, Bill Schaeke re, Chet Strehlow qb, Charley Hoag lh, Wade Stinson rh, John Amberg fb.

MISSOURI — Bill Hampel le, Julian Boyd lt, Bob Hixson lg, Roger Kinson c, Bronko Marusic rg, Dave Millican rt, Gene Ackermann rh, Phil Klein qb, John Glorioso lh, Junior Wren rh, Ed Stephens fb.

KICKOFF — 2 p.m., Thursday, Memorial stadium. OFFICIALS — Referee, Louis House (William Jewell); umpire, M. G. Volz (Nebraska); linesman, Carl Kopel (College of Emporia); judge, Dick Pendleton (Oklahoma).

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 22 — Rich in its tradition as the midlands' oldest gridiron strife, the Missouri-Kansas rivalry will be renewed a 59th time here Thanksgiving day, with a higher Big Seven finish accruing to the winner.

Climaxing an attractive Homecoming program, the Tiger-Jayhawk battle should pull upwards of 35,000 fans to Memorial Stadium, but assistant business manager A. C. Stotler said Monday that tickets will be available for all who planned to attend the contest.

"We'll be selling tickets at the stadium the day of the game," Stotler said.

Radio coverage of the holiday attraction will be the most extensive ever accorded a Tiger home game. Eight stations will handle the game, including a coast-to-coast hookup by the American Broadcasting company. Harry Wismer will do ABC's play-by-play announcing.

Missouri will carry a 2-2-1 league record into the KU game, with the Jayhawks owning a 3-2 mark. Winning, the Missourians can't hope for more than a third place finish in the Big Seven, while Kansas could use a victory as a quite-possible means of tying Nebraska for second place. Nebraska (4-1) tackles mighty Oklahoma at Norman Saturday.

In four post-war dogfights, the laurels have been evenly divided between Mizzou and Kansas. Two were decided a third by one point, an another by two touchdowns but unless Missouri's depleted defenses can check Kansas' blazing infantry here Thursday, the Mt. Oreadans should change all that. No less than five first-line Tiger defenders have been lost through crippling injuries in the last three weeks.

Able-bodied citizens have fled to stem Coach J. V. Sikes' prancers — who'll weigh in as the nation's fourth-best rushing team this week, with a net yardage a ground of 319 yards per game. Overall, KU's total offense has hammered out 410 yards in every start.

This can't be catalogued as comforting news to Tiger coach Don Faurot, who has lost only twice and has been twice-tied, in 12 previous meetings with the Jayhawks. Except for one 34-point splurge against Nebraska, his Split T offense has not burned with its customary bright red flame. Likewise, the Tigers' defensive sins haven't been apparent all year — but their shrinking manpower is the real source of Faurot's alarm.

Major casualties in the Oklahoma game were defensive ends Bob Ebinger and Maurice Udell. Ebinger — a gritty standout against O. U. — sprained his ankle severely and his readiness this Thursday is doubtful. Udell, a sophomore, took a bad facial battering, with a gash that required several stitches — but may be somewhat mended for K. U. duty.

Faurot, however, plans to move up two non-lettered reserves, Rusty McKee and Bruce Wood, as his No. 1 defensive wingmen this week.

Kansas' twin breakaway jets — Wade Stinson and Charley Hoag — figure to lead their club's assault on Mizzou. Stinson already has marched 1,027 yards for the third-highest rushing net in Big Seven annals. He trails only N. U.'s Bob Reynolds and Missouri's Bob Stuber, who amassed 1,098 yards in 1942. Stinson, who could surpass the Steuber mark Thursday, has scored 78 points.

His sidekick, Hoag, is not far

Choices From Claassen in Grid Games

Final Ones as the Football Season is Coming to an End

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—(P)—The final appearance of the season as a pugskin prognosticator. And it comes the week after having picked 51 of 60 games correctly for an average of .850.

Here's hoping the swan song is as good.

Kentucky at Tennessee: Kentucky has the more outstanding record and the more widely known players. That's duck soup for Gen. Bob Meyland, the Tennessee coach, who specializes in knocking off the big ones. It is Saturday's game of the day. Tennessee.

Stanford at California: The Californians have won 33 straight scheduled games with defeats in two Rose bowl games as the only blemishes. It will be 34 by Saturday night and the Bears will be headed for another Rose Bowl contest.

Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio State over Northwestern, Minnesota and Michigan: The Big Ten winds up Saturday with the champion and the Rose Bowl representative still undecided. Illinois, the likely California visitor on Jan. 1, appears to have the easiest job of the three unless battered too much by Ohio State last Saturday. Wisconsin, No. 2 on the Rose Bowl list, runs into a Minnesota team that hopes to bid farewell to Bernie Bierman with a victory. Nothing is ever safe when Ohio State and Michigan tangle.

Columbia at Brown: They are playing this one Thursday morning to enable the spectators to get home in time for the turkey dinner. All the white meat will be for Columbia, nothing but the giblets and bones for Brown. Columbia.

Iowa at Miami: Iowa's season ended with the Notre Dame game. Friday night's game is merely a joy ride. Miami.

Kansas at Missouri: The Missouri Tigers are toothless this year. That's a great handicap on Thanksgiving day. Kansas.

Arkansas at Tulsa: Another traditional turkey day game. Tulsa is the Missouri Valley champion and doesn't intend to miss a bowl chance now.

Nebraska at Oklahoma: Reynolds probably will be the star but it will be another victory for the Sooners on Saturday. Oklahoma.

Yale at Harvard: Oh, me; oh, my will be Harvard's moan Saturday. Yale.

Alabama at Florida: Ed Salem's passing will be too much for Florida on Saturday. Alabama.

Cornell at Penn: A traditional turkey day contest which is shifted to Saturday this year. Pennsylvania.

Baylor at Southern Methodist: Too much Kyle Rote for Baylor in this Saturday affair. SMU.

Other Games:

Thursday — Wichita over Nevada; Wyoming over Denver.

Friday — College of Pacific over Boston university; LSU over Villanova; San Jose State over Montana.

Saturday:

Midwest — Oklahoma A & M over Kansas State; Purdue over Indiana.

Far West — Colorado over Colorado A & M; Iowa State over Arizona; Oregon State over Oregon.

Handicap

10 shapes up for Saturday's action:

4. California 13½ over Stanford. 5. Texas idle. 6. Illinois 13 over Northwestern.

7. Princeton 20½ over Dartmouth.

8. Ohio State 7½ over Michigan.

9. Tennessee.

10. Michigan State season completed.

Kentucky's third-ranked Wildcats are only a seven-point choice to down ninth-ranked Tennessee. Army, No. 2 in this week's AP poll, is idle.

Here's how the rest of the top behind. The fine sophomore halfback claims a rushing net of 838 yards, and is a capable runner and passer in the Jayhawk offense.

Wade Stinson and Charley Hoag — figure to lead their club's assault on Mizzou. Stinson already has marched 1,027 yards for the third-highest rushing net in Big Seven annals. He trails only N. U.'s Bob Reynolds and Missouri's Bob Stuber, who amassed 1,098 yards in 1942. Stinson, who could surpass the Steuber mark Thursday, has scored 78 points.

Some of The Big Bowl Games Not Yet Arranged

Comeback For Wade Stinson

By Skipper Patrick

LAURENCE, Kas., Nov. 22—(P)—Fiery Wade Stinson, who was hospitalized for many months with a hand injury suffered during World War II, will complete a spectacular football comeback tomorrow.

Only in the Cotton bowl, where Texas is an assured participant, has any team been definitely chosen. And there's confusion even in Dallas.

Yesterday, for instance, officials of the classic said several teams are under consideration — but no formal invitation had been issued. What prompted the statement was that earlier in Chicago the Big Ten conference had refused to give Michigan State permission to play in the Cotton bowl.

As of now, it looks like Oklahoma or Tennessee — depending on Saturday's games — will play Texas. Oklahoma meets Nebraska. Tennessee faces Kentucky.

Here's the approximate bowl pictures:

Sugar at New Orleans — Kentucky or Tennessee vs. Oklahoma.

Cotton at Dallas — Texas vs. Oklahoma or Tennessee.

Orange at Miami — Florida A&M vs. Wilberforce (Ohio) State.

Jan. 1

Pythian bowl, Salisbury, N. C.

Appalachian vs. unnamed opponent.

Jan. 2

Potato bowl, Bakersfield, Calif.

Olympic Junior college vs. unnamed opponent.

Orange Blossom, Miami — Florida A&M vs. Wilberforce (Ohio) State.

Dec. 1

Texoma bowl, Denison, Tex.

— Texas Junior college vs. San Angelo Junior college.

Dec. 2

Potato bowl, Bakersfield, Calif.

Olympic Junior college vs. unnamed opponent.

Dec. 3

Pythian bowl, Salisbury, N. C.

Appalachian vs. unnamed opponent.

Jan. 1

Salad bowl, Phoenix — Arizona State at Tempe vs. unnamed opponent.

Sunbowl, El Paso — West Texas State vs. Cincinnati.

Cotton at Dallas — Texas vs. Oklahoma or Tennessee.

Orange at Miami — Miami vs. Kentucky, Tennessee, Clemson or Wyo.

Gator at Jacksonville — Several of the above teams are in the running.

West Texas State and the University of Cincinnati accepted bids to play in the Sun bowl game at El Paso, Tex., on New Year's day.

The Orange blossom classic at Miami also was set as Florida A&M and Wilberforce (Ohio) State agreed to meet.

The presidential cup game Washington's Dec. 2 match, also was undecided when Maryland's athletic council couldn't make up his success this season to his teammates in general and to tackle Mike McCormack in particular.

"Big Mac just blocks them one way and I run the other," Stinson says.

But that doesn't fully explain how Stinson gets those extra 25 or 50 yards after he's passed big McCormack.

Stinson played practically no freshman ball and was used sparingly his sophomore year. He lettered as a second stringer in 1949.

In nine games this season, Stinson will open their home season against the Lake Ozark Lakers from Lake Ozark on Thursday, November 30 at 8:00 o'clock at Convention hall. This is the first game for the CBC team this year.

Stinson is the third player in Big Seven history to gain 1,000 or more yards rushing in a single season. It's unlikely that he'll catch Nebraska's Bobby Reynolds who picked up 1,260 yards in eight games, but the old conference record of 1,098 by Bob Steuber of Missouri in 1942 appears just one day away.

In the last five Kansas games Stinson has gotten off long touchdowns — 49 yards against Kansas State, 71 against Oklahoma, 72 against Utah, 47 against Nebraska and 68 against Oklahoma A. & M.

Against Utah, Stinson raced for 239 yards net in 24 trips, the best mark ever set by a Big Seven player in a single game.

Stinson, who wears a defingered street glove to protect his tender right palm, gives credit for

The anticipated starting line-up for the CBC team will be Foster McGuire, Billy Elwell, Dick Harris, Neil Kammeyer and Buddy Thomas. On the reserves will be Hillard Willie, Bob Jackson, Davis Wells, and Artie Elwell.

The next home game for the Central Business college team will be December 7 against the Clinton Elks. The business college team was defeated by the Elks last season, and they are out to avenge that score this year. There has not been a meeting between the Lake Ozark team and the business college quintet.

Mrs. Flavia C. Kaufman, 2436 70th Ave., Baton Rouge, Louisiana, says it is a full time job keeping tabs on her little granddaughter, Mildred Gore, but it is a job she thoroughly enjoys. Yes, everything in life for her these days is enjoyable—because she has at last found her secret of feeling better. She now takes HADACOL regularly because she was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

Here is Mrs. Kaufman's statement: "I have been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before I started taking HADACOL I was terribly nervous and upset all the time. I was underweight and just couldn't eat at all. My appetite was so lax that I ate irregularly at all hours of the day. Then I started taking HADACOL. After the third bottle I felt 100% better. I have gained weight, my appetite is tremendous and, best of all, I sleep well nights and my nerves are steady as can be. HADACOL is a very wonderful product. I just can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation— promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and nagging aches and pains, if due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin in your system.

HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Only Genuine HADACOL. Don't go through life suffering those nagging aches and pains if caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drugstore for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL. Your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Copyright 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation.

U.S. Women's Migration From Kitchen to Factory Upsetting Nation's Youth and Homes

OFF TO WORK SHE GOES: Heading for a job, this mother leaves her son at a day school on the way, thus adding to a U.S. home life problem to which nobody yet has an answer.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In the past 10 years American women have made a mass migration from the kitchen sink to the factory and office.

According to 1950 census figures there are now 19,000,000 women workers in the U.S., close to one-third of the total working population of the country. Largest per cent of them are mothers and wives. It's almost a 50 per cent increase over 1940. The rate of increase is getting faster every year.

Today for the first time on startling facts are revealed on the serious impact of this trend on American youth. It has become a major factor in upsetting U.S. home life. And nobody seems to have any solution.

In Illinois a woman was found to be sending her kids to the movies five days a week while she worked. In New York a nine-year-old child was feeding and caring for three infants while the mother worked. In practically every state, aged and invalid grandparents have been saddled with the strenuous care of younger children while mothers are away toiling for the weekly paycheck.

In Rhode Island the time schedules of practically all industries have been adjusted to give working mothers a chance to shop. In many states it's easier for women

The Displaced Generation: 4

Here's the fourth of five dispatches based on an exclusive preview of the comprehensive report to be aired at the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth Dec. 3-7.

to get jobs than men. Result: Thousands of men have taken over the household and child-rearing duties while mother slaves for the bacon.

What all this means to the millions of American youngsters who must do without mothers for 40 hours a week is told in one of the most comprehensive studies on American youth ever made.

Inevitable result of so many working mothers, the reports reveal, is a big contribution to the nation's already serious juvenile delinquency problem, broken homes and millions of neglected kids growing up with warped personalities.

The woman who sent her kids to the movies while she worked had a small independent income which could have kept her and her brood going. She said she wanted to give them a few luxuries.

Most of the men who had agreed to stay home to take care of the kids while mama worked outside said they considered it only a temporary arrangement. Most of them seemed intent on giving up the whole marriage if it continued.

Still another woman reported that her home had become so mechanized with automatic household devices she didn't have much to do around the house and was plain bored with taking care of the children. The salary from her job paid for putting them in a private day school and left a little extra besides.

However, it is also true that thousands of American mothers wanted to give them a few luxuries. But when she figured out the extra costs of her working, such as clothes and transportation, the net gain was a pittance.

The woman who thought she had solved her problem of working by having her nine-year-old daughter take care of the infants complained that her husband couldn't hold a job so she had to work. Her husband said he used to be able to hold a job. But she always kept persuading him to change jobs to earn more money.

Because of the increased life span there are many more old people in the U.S. Having an aged aunt or grandparent take care of the children is far from a satisfactory answer. With all the other problems that beset them, youngsters need the love, affection and patience of their own mothers.

Using older children to take care of the younger ones is the worst answer of all. It places an unreasonable responsibility on the older ones. They should be out having a good time and the younger ones are getting inadequate supervision.

And the halting of the trend toward more and more mothers

'Super-Pup' Comes Home

Brownie, a five-month-old pup, is back with the children of Albert Herman in their home at Calumet City, a Chicago suburb, after his close brush with death. The pup was buried in a shallow grave after he was shot in the head to end his suffering when he was struck by an auto. The dog roused himself from the grave and came home. He was taken to a veterinarian who brought the dog back to health. The children are (left to right): Richard, 7; Janice, 12; Leslie, 8, and Robert, 4. (AP WIREPHOTO)

MALAKAL, Sudan.—(P)—Nuer tribesmen in this isolated Upper Nile province picked their first district council in a secret ballot recently.

Each candidate laid his spear alongside an empty gasoline tin. Voters walked up one by one and each dropped a stone in the tin of his choice. The headmen then counted the stones.

Grasshopper Year Predicted

REGINA —(P)— Saskatchewan farmers have been warned that 1951 may be a bad grasshopper year. The Provincial Department of Agriculture says infestation by the stubble grasshopper, voracious enemy of grain crops, probably will be worse than in the last two seasons.

The Dominion Entomological Laboratory at Saskatoon says an extensive anti-grasshopper campaign will be required in a large part of the province.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

General Vaughan Promotes Hospitality For Servicemen

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON.—Some people will hardly believe it, but here with is a bouquet to my old deep-freeze pal, Gen. Harry Vaughan.Ever since the Korean war, 10,000 servicemen have been wandering the streets of Washington with no place to go and none of the hospitals shown them during World War II. For the nation's capital—like a lot of other cities—hasn't realized that with the cold war now warm, we civilians ought to shift our hospitality from cold to warm.An exception is General Vaughan, who has been quietly raising Cain with the Treasury and Jess Larson, chief of the general services of supply, in order to pry loose the old Belasco theatre for the use of the American Legion and other veterans' groups in entertaining servicemen.The Belasco theatre enjoys one of the most central locations in Washington. Diagonally across Lafayette square from the White House, it is adjacent to the old Dolly Madison house where the wife of the fourth president of the United States entertained in the early days of the republic. But because legitimate theatres have long been closed in the nation's capital, the Belasco—believe it or not—is filled with old government files and canceled checks.And the Treasury Department, whose files are chiefly concerned, won't release the theatre to the veterans for entertainment purposes.

More Red Tape

First stumbling block was a Treasury claim that it would cost $20,000 to transport the files to another building. Whereupon Maj. Gen. T.
W. Herren, Army commander in the District of Columbia, offered to transport the files in Army trucks, free.Then the Treasury came up with a new argument—that it would cost the government $75,000 to find other storage space for the files. Furthermore, the Treasury wants an armed guard to be placed over its canceled checks and it's more convenient to keep a guard over them in the Belasco theatre.But what Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder doesn't seem to realize is that $75,000 a year is chickenfeed compared to the morale and morals of 10,000 young Americans who don't want to be away from home, but who in serving their country have to be away from home, and need some place to relax evenings.General Vaughan, recognizing this problem, has done his best to cut red tape. But so far his friends John Maragon and Joe Major seem to have been more successful with Jess Larson regarding surplus property in the past than the general is now regarding hospitality for servicemen.

Protecting the President

The folks back in Independence, Mo., still are talking about the strict security precautions taken by the secret service during the President's visit to his home town. It wasn't at all like other visits, when Mr. Truman casually walked around the main streets, waving to neighbors and chatting with old friends.Milton Morris, a deliveryman for the Independence Ice and Creamery Co., is one who knows how different Harry's visit was this time. For when Morris wheeled his ice truck into the parking lot at the reorganized Latter Day Saint auditorium where Truman was being entertained at lunch, he was met by two secret service agents. And a new method of delivery was set for the iceman that day.Morris was told to leave his pocket knife, his ice pick, and his ice tongs in the truck. He was required to carry the 50-pound chunk of ice to the door of the building in his arms. There the ice was washed—twice—and then handed to a worker inside the building.Down at Kelsey's restaurant on Truman road, the route usually taken from the Muehlebach hotel to Independence, a few of the townspeople waited patiently for the President's caravan to pass. But his limousine, followed by seven secret service agents riding in an open car, whizzed by a bit in excess of the Independence 25-mile-an-hour speed limit, and few saw Truman.Ellen, a waitress, looking out at the seven agents in the open car, remarked: "Those guys looked darn cold."And up on the roof of the Muehlebach hotel that night, two Kansas City detectives, Floyd Hyland and Fred Wilson, caught the night watch from 9:30 p.m. to 6 a.m. They remarked: "It was cold."NOTE—While the home folks sympathize with the new precautions taken to protect the President, they look forward to the time when he can be just plain "Harry" again.

Phone Strike

The Senate labor-management subcommittee is rushing a report on labor and strike conditions in the Bell telephone system.The report will show that while American Telephone and Telegraph, the mother company, actually dictates labor policy for the entire system, the labor union is forced to deal independently with the local companies, and that "careful and deliberate wage chaos exists in the Bell system. There are over 100 different wage schedules for the single job of telephone operator in the United States."

Starting rates for telephone operators in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and the south are only $27 a week; yet it takes these operators eight years to reach the top rate of $36 per week."It is our position," the CIO Communications of America told Senators, "that a wage rate of $36 a week for a skilled operator after eight years service with the largest and richest company in the world is an unreasonable and improper wage rate."The committee found that skilled telephone installers and cable splicers often make less than common laborers. In Newark, N.J., common laborers in the building industry are paid $2.12 an hour, while the starting rate for skilled telephone craftsmen is 91 cents an hour. After eight years, a telephone installer still receives one cent less than an unskilled laborer. Yet the Bell system has such a monopoly on the telephone industry that its skilled workers cannot quit and go to work for a competitor.Senators also found that the Bell system has collected $394,000,000 in rate increases since V-J day, considerably more than the wage increases paid out.

High-Riding Senator

Oregon's G.O.P. Sen. Wayne Morse was given a surprise birthday party recently on a plane 11,000 feet over Alaska. His two traveling companions, Democratic Sen. Lester Hunt of Wyoming and G.O.P. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, smuggled a birthday cake on board and produced it at the strategic moment.
Since Morse is a tee-totaler, they also served coffee.However, Saltonstall noted they were flying at 11,000 feet altitude and warned the Senator from Oregon:"I am going to tell the Senate I saw you plenty high on your birthday."Our Liberty is Cause Enough
For Fervent Thanksgiving

By Bruce Biossart

The year 1950 brought us a war we never dreamed of in a place called Korea of which we knew little. It brought death and pain and new taxes and chafing controls—and the promise of more.It has been no lessening of the Communist threat which hangs over the free world. Rather has that menace grown, despite tremendous efforts on our part to reduce it. And so we find ourselves getting a bigger Army and Navy and Air Force, though "peace" has been the order of the day for a mere five years since World War II.All the world seems beset by strife and strain.
There is almost no quiet corner any more. Far-off Tibet, land of lost horizons, has tumbled off its high pedestal into the turbulent news of the day. What's next? Bali? Switzerland? Little America?Yet it wouldn't be right to say we have nothing to be grateful for on this new Thanksgiving Day. We have much to be glad about.Of course, our bountiful crops and thriving industry which together are lifting us to a plane of living we've never before enjoyed. Our naging anxiety over what's in store for us tomorrow can't wholly mar the basic material satisfactions an unmatched prosperity is bringing us.But beyond all this we can be happy that liberty is still a word with meaning for us as individuals. All the turmoil and anguish of the times have not yet robbed us of that freedom which is our greatest hope for fulfillment.To be sure, the danger from the Red enemy has spread an uncommon fear among us. Many frightened people have been spurred to accuse others of subverting our liberties, too often on frail or non-existent evidence. By their charges they themselves have put our heritage in danger.But essentially it is still intact. We can walk the land with heads held high. We are still free to build sound character and purpose in ourselves and our children. We are still free to think pretty much as we please, to build the kind of life we want, to work for good within our homes and beyond them. And free to vote as we think best.We should be deeply thankful we still have these things. And we should recognize clearly that having them imposes on us a heavy responsibility. For in the wise individual uses of freedom lies the greatest assurance that freedom as a fundamental of our life shall never vanish.GI's Lack of Winter Clothing in Korea is an all Too Often Repeated Story

By Sumner Ahlbom

We've done it again. Once more we've allowed our soldiers to fight a winter improperly clothed.Front line dispatches tell of American G.I.'s huddling around bonfires in the North Korean rice paddies, shivering in the cotton fatigue uniforms which were issued to them in the sweltering days of summer.Fires may be lighted only in the daytime, and then only well behind the front lines. Fire by night would draw artillery or mortar fire so the men clutch their blankets around them and wonder when the supply sergeant will get those fine, warm winter uniforms the Pentagon was talking about months ago.There's something vaguely familiar about this situation. It brings back memories of the dark December of 1944 when American troops striving to contain the German "bulge" in the frigid Ardenne were suffering from frostbite, trench foot and pneumonia—because somebody in the rear echelons had failed to get winter uniforms to the men on the frozen front.The alibi then, as now, was "we were over-optimistic, thought the war would be over before we'd need the stuff."Some winter equipment has reached Korea.
What there is of it appears better than we had at the end of World War II. The heavy rubber and leather shoe pacs, woolen underwear and layered upper clothing are reported to be much less of an impediment to fighting than the cumbersome overshoes and overcoats of the last war.But front reporters say only a relatively few of the troops have complete winter equipment.
Much of it appears to be en route from the United States and it's scant consolation to a frostbitten soldier to know that his winter gear is in the hold of a freighter.When, oh when, in the name of the men of Valley Forge and of Bastogne and of Chongchon, will we ever learn to prepare for the worst?

FROM THE RECEPITIVE TO THE POSITIVE VIRTUES

We proceed in our study of the Beatitudes from the receptive side to the positive side. The first three are receptive; the fourth is partly receptive and partly outgoing; and the next three are positive and assertive: (1) the merciful who obtain mercy; (2) the pure in heart who see God; (3) the peacemakers who are called children of God.The Kingdom-of-God life begins with receptivity and ends in positive activity—the passive becomes the positive. The positives are three: they exercise power mercifully; they have gained a central insight—they see God; they go out and are able to make men change and come to peaceful solutions.The astonishing thing is that when Jesus turns from the passive, receptive side, the first thing He mentions is power wielded mercifully. He tells of masterful, dominating personalities who have people in their power, but who wield that power mercifully and beneficially. Does receptivity bring power over others? Yes; a receptive person becomes a vigorous person. Divine resources make the man humanly resourceful.
But the vigor is constructive and redemptive—power is controlled by love, the only safe power. Jesus had all power, but He used it not for Himself, not for the destruction of enemies, not to awe His hearers, but only for purposes of mercy.The second outgoing quality is purity of heart which has a central insight—it sees God. Those who are receptive can not only do—they can see. There are two great types of personalities—those who desire to do, to achieve, to wield power, and those who desire to have insights, to know, to gain the world of insight into the relationships of things. The first are the men of action, and the second the men of thought—the pioneers, the philosophers. Both types are produced out of receptivity, and both are needed. But the central insight that is needed is men who can see God—God at work in redemption, in science, in beauty, in the moral universe, overruling the affairs of men.
The pure in heart are in the breathless adventure of seeing God everywhere!O God, I would be pure in heart, single-minded, so that my insights may be clarified, for I want to see Thee—to see Thee in the blade of grass, in the procession of the stars, in the rough-and-tumble of human events, and in my own heart when I close the door and make tryst with Thee there. I would see Thee—Thee. Then I am satisfied. Amen.(From the book "Abundant Living," published by Abundant Living Press of New York and Nashville. Copyright, 1950, by NEA Service.)

You and the Service

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff CorrespondentWASHINGTON—Q. When I left the Air Force I was pressured into signing up for the reserves. Since then the VA has declared me partially disabled. Will I get a call to active duty because of this?

A. Probably not.

Q. I am in the Air Force inactive reserve as an enlisted man. I was recently turned down on an application for a commission and active duty. Does this mean that I won't get a call to active duty as an enlisted man?A. That depends on why your commission was refused. It was because of some physical defect you probably won't get a call. It was for some other reason you might not.Q. I am in college and have been deferred until the end of the semester, when I graduate. Can I then enlist in the Navy? Or will the Army get me?A. The rule now is, if you try to enlist in either the Air Force or Navy before you get a report for draft physical, they will take you. Later, no.

"No dice, sergeant. She didn't quite catch what you said." Joe College contemplated the newcomer in their midst with speculative attention. "You know, Eddie, on second thought I'm not sure you haven't got something in this situation. It's really a wonderful opportunity to make a proposal to a girl, without danger of uncomfortable consequences like a breach of promise suit. Go to it, sergeant. I'd like to listen to you."

The girl looked out at the calm lake. "I wonder if the water is warm enough for a swim. I'll bet you'd go with me, doggie."

Duke wagged his tail to signify that he would be glad to go along.

"There's one way to find out," she said, and forthwith kicked off her shoes.

"Small feet," observed Joe with critical interest. "Ankle's okay! Oops!"

The girl was unfastening her garters from the tops of her stockings.

"Wham!" Jake exclaimed. "May-be it ain't so bad being like we are after all."

Eddie decided to do something about it. "Fall in, you guys."

The director of operations, Lt.-Gen. Sir Harold Briggs, said many attempts have been made to drive the Reds out of the jungle by fire, but that the jungle simply will not burn.

When Scrooge's nephew, Fred, dropped by to wish his uncle a merry Christmas, and to invite him to Christmas dinner, the old curmudgeon turned on him with "Christmas! Bah! Humbug!"
